No LPG shortage in State, says govt.

Officials say that the supply lines remain stable and there is no immediate cause for concern; a multi-tiered monitoring system will oversee the overall LPG supply situation and guide allocation strategies in the State

The Hindu Bureau
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Allaying concerns over the global liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) shortage triggered by the ongoing conflict in West Asia, the State government has assured that Kerala has sufficient cooking gas stocks to meet domestic demand.

According to Statewide LPG stock data released by the Food and Civil Supplies Department (based on opening stock figures for Tuesday), the current domestic stock stands at 22,064.9 metric tonnes (MT), while non-domestic stock is 1,601.9 MT and transit stock totals 1,487.6 MT.

Officials stated that the available domestic stock alone would last for more than six days, with uninterrupted replenishment expected to continue. The supply lines remain stable and there is no immediate cause for concern regarding LPG availability.

Kerala currently serves 98.45 lakh domestic LPG consumers. This includes 20.46 lakh single-bottle connection (SBC) users and 77.99 lakh double-bottle connection (DBC) users across the three state-owned oil marketing companies–Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. (IOC), Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. (BPCL), and Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd. (HPCL).

As of February 26, the State's average daily LPG consumption was recorded at 2,985 MT for domestic use and 753 MT for non-domestic purposes.

Bottling plants across Kerala collectively hold 19,847.7 MT of LPG stock. In addition, retail distributors currently maintain 3,366.2 MT of domestic LPG and 452.9 MT of non-domestic stock. Among bottling facilities, the Kochi plant operated by BPCL has the highest domestic LPG stock availability of 10,961 MT.

Continuous monitoring

The State's LPG stock is being continuously monitored as part of a policy framework to regulate cooking gas supply in order to ensure uninterrupted supply, prevent misuse, and prioritise essential services.

The guidelines were finalised during a recent high-level review convened by the Chief Minister with representatives of oil marketing companies. A multi-tiered monitoring system, involving a State Crisis Management Committee, chaired by the Chief Secretary, has come into being. The panel will oversee the overall LPG supply situation and guide allocation strategies.

Nodal agency

At the operational level, the Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs Department has been designated as the nodal agency. The Commissioner of Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs will function as the State Nodal Officer, supported by an Emergency Response Cell and a real-time LPG monitoring dashboard to track availability and distribution across districts. Daily reports on supply status will be submitted to the government.

District-level committees, headed by District Collectors, will also play a crucial role in managing local distribution. These panels are tasked with monitoring stock levels, addressing refill delays, coordinating with bottling plants, and ensuring supply to priority sectors such as hospitals, educational institutions, and community kitchens.

The government has directed district authorities to maintain adequate stock levels, including a minimum reserve of commercial LPG cylinders for priority distribution. During supply constraints, non-domestic LPG distribution will be capped at around 20% of average daily consumption.

State film policy moots industry status for cinema

S.R. Praveen
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

The Kerala State Film Policy, approved by the State Cabinet last week, recommends recognition of cinema as an industry and puts forward several steps to ensure gender justice as well as for the sustained growth of the industry, artistically and economically.

The formulation of a film policy was one of the recommendations of the Justice K. Hema Committee.

Gender equality

As part of measures to ensure gender equality, all committees should have 30% representation for women, says a film policy recommendation. Film promotion events, stage shows, and film awards functions will be brought under the definition of a workplace related to the film industry. All film production units should have an Internal Committee as per the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013.

The government will formulate a 'Model Employment Contract' which stipulates the working hours, overtime minimum wages, maternity leave and the basic facilities required at shooting locations, with every film producer required to mandatorily adhere to it.

All those who are employed in the industry, including junior artistes and drivers, are to be registered in a centralised online system so that they can be included in various social security measures. Grievance redressal mechanisms will be put in place to address sexual harassment at workplace and labour issues.

The policy recommends recognition of Malayalam cinema as an industry. The government should form a film development fund for various promotional and welfare activities for the industry.

With the Kerala State Film Development Corporation (KSFDC) as a nodal financing agency, aid can be provided to producers to avail loans at lower interest rates from banks and other financial institutions. New sources of funds such as a virtual capital fund with private partnership and crowdsourcing to promote the making of socially relevant cinema can be tapped. Reforms are suggested in the subsidy structure for films. In the general subsidy scheme, 20% can be set aside for women filmmakers who satisfy norms, 10% for children's films and 10% for transgender-differently-abled categories.

The government will consider doing away with entertainment tax on film tickets after discussions with the local self government department and the GST council to avoid the issue of double taxation raised by film organisations. Reduction in power tariffs for theatres will also be considered. A centralised e-ticketing platform will be set up with smart cards similar to digital wallets for cinema theatres.

The policy recommends the formation of a State Film Development Council headed by the Chief Minister, which will function as an apex body overseeing all the developmental activities in the sector.

A single window system will be implemented for various clearances from government agencies for film production. Incentives will be provided for films from other languages which are shot in Kerala.
